Corporate Update

UMTang

The Company launched three corporate-owned UMTang noon-care & after-school tutoring centers between February and May, 2017. Although these three centers have been used for demonstration and training purposes, they are fully enrolled with students and are producing revenues. On April 17, 2017, the Company launched the UMTang partnering program and as of this date, one hundred and six partners have joined the program, making UMTang the largest noon-care and after-school tutoring operator in the City of Guangzhou, as measured by service location.

As of July 1, 2017, all UMTang partners will process their clients' payments ("GMV") via the Company's mobile payment App on the "WeChat" platform, to standardize revenue implementation. Concurrently, UMTang will launch six value-added products to be marketed to K3-K6 students, via UMTang partners, during the summer season. It is anticipated that there will be a gradual build-up of GMV, from that point forwards.

The market for K1-K6 noon-care and after-school tutoring is estimated to be valued at between RMB 100 billion and RMB 300 Billion (US$14.5B to US$43.5B) per annum. A typical home-based provider services ten children, with gross revenues of RMB12,000 (USD $1,739) per month for the provision of basic noon-care and after-school tutoring service. Company revenue projections are based on a minimum 3% commission fee against basic noon-care GMV and up to 20% on GMV for value-added products such as summer/weekend camps, English lessons, hobby classes and most importantly, the Company's online assessment tools and teaching materials from Teachers University. Such value-added products, that are exclusive to the UMTang network, are attractive marketing tools to the Company's partners, as they have no other way to access these unique and proprietary educational resources.

There are over 330,000 service providers competing in the noon-care & after-school tutoring market for K1-K6 students in China. However, to the best of the Company's knowledge, the largest noon-care brand has just over five hundred franchisees across the entire country. The Company's near-term target is to have a minimum of five hundred partner locations established by the end of August, 2017, to exploit the beginning of the new academic year in September, the peak season in the tutoring industry.

The Company's ultimate goal is to consolidate up to 30,000 existing home-based providers under the UMTang banner in the fourteen major Chinese cities, upgrading them to UMTang's high quality standards. These home-based providers will become the Company's sales portal which will then be used to market a variety of quality education and life-style products to the entire Chinese family.

UMFun/China Mobile

Launched in 2013, UMFun is the Company's flagship product and has received the prestigious "2016 Top 100 Online Education Product" designation in China. In July 2014, the Company entered into a business relationship with China Mobile Limited, to be a partner on its "AND" Education Mobile Platform. This collaboration with China Mobile is a major cornerstone in UMeWorld's business plan. China Mobile created its "AND" education platform in 2003, now a closed pay-for-use communication portal system and operated independently by China Mobile's wholly-owned provincial subsidiaries. System-wide, it is used by over ninety million teacher, student and parent subscribers. In 2016, China Mobile began consolidating the individual provincial "AND" education offerings into one national platform. To date and until this consolidation is completed, UMFun and the other educational apps on the platform are made available by China Mobile to subscribers free of charge. On June 1, 2017, UMFun was chosen to be listed on the consolidated platform. This national platform listing is also a major milestone for the Company, as UMFun will become available to the over ninety million "AND" education platform subscribers in this closed marketing system. The Company has yet to be informed of the commercialization plan of the national platform, but believes that this will occur before September of this year, to coincide with the commencement of the 2017 - 2018 school year. Currently, UMFun is available on six "AND" education provincial platforms and is the most actively used app on three of those platforms. UMFun currently has over fourteen million users.
